I am happy to learn that ILBS is organizing conference on 4th December 2016 for the centres participating in ILBS ECHO Project programme.

The ILBS ECHO is well structured training programme covering almost all important liver diseases, conducted very professionally by highly motivated faculty .The content of the course provides detailed and updated information which both my faculty and post graduates find very useful.

The case presentation sessions make the learning-teaching very interactive.
It is highly appreciable that THE ECHO ILBS team makes changes in the program based upon our feedback.

This programme will go long way in improving understanding of liver disorders with special reference to India.
